

Mission Statement of GRS

Vision

We want to be the first choice when public-sector customers at home and abroad require research, methods, analyses or assessments to increase the safety of nuclear and non-nuclear installations.

- We want to consolidate and further develop the role of GRS as the central expert organisation of the German federal government.
- We want to strengthen GRS as an important national and international research institution.
- We want to expand the role of GRS as an internationally operating technical expert organisation.
- We want to expand GRS's involvement in the non-nuclear sector.

Mission

We protect man and the environment by further developing the safety of technical installations. Our work is to meet the highest scientific standards. We are guided by the following values:

- independence and objectivity,
- non-profit status,
- reliability and responsibility,
- vigilance,
- openness and appreciation,
- sustainability.
